PERSIAN CHARGE SPEAKS BEFORE PEACE CONGRESS

Requisite for Universal Peace

Chinese Editor, Citing Conditions in His Country, Warns U. S. Against Unpreparedness.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 13 .- A of ours." world religion—a religion including Farmer Brown's Boy flushed with truth of all religions and excluding all pleasure. He had worked hard in that declared to be a prime requisite for charge d'affaires of the Persian lega-tion at Washington, in an address beore the International Peace Congress ere yesterday. He said:

"Humanity, from the dawn of history, has progressed under the guidance of rophetic teachers from a state of inancy through the various stages of levelopment leading to its maturity in spite of all obstacles to the contrary, the course of humanity, in the ong run, has never been impeded by retrogression.

"The prophets of God, whose gospels were the result of a well founded optimism, aimed at the unity of man because of their due knowledge of the principle of human unity, which in the mind of God had ever been an accomplished fact. Each world teacher accomplished that plan in conformity with the limited capacity manifested by his people.

Plans of Unification.

God applied His original plan for the the Gentiles through Jesus, of the Parsees through Zoroaster, of the Hindus through the Buddha, and of the other sections of humanity through was no hope for peace "as long as there exist nations or individuals who believe or exalt themselves as absolutely superior to others and, to assert that superiority, do nt hesitate to appeal to material forces."

On the floor of the congress Dr. Ng Poon Chew, a Chinese editor, added to Count Okuma's statement. "There will be wars and more wars just so long as there are two codes of laws and two standards of morality, one governing nations, the other individuals," he said.

War, the doctor said, was going to keep right on in one place or another.

Even China was preparing. He blamed western militarism, which had not only parceled China, but had de-stroyed her ideals of peace, and he called Japan the disturber of the peace of the orient.

"If U. S. Were Unprepared." "If the United States were as un prepared it would fare no better than China at the hands of the world powrs," he said. "China has learned her abandon its concept that justice is the foundation of the state and to take up the practice of brute force.

"Japan is the disturber of the peace in the orient. She is essentially a military nation and she has in herself the perfect compilation of the militarism of Germany and the navyism of England. Her ambition is boundless.

"With such neighbors what must China do but prepare for defense? Before the European war broke out we imported a large number of men, the followers of the Prince of Peace, from Europe, the seat of Christendom, over to 'heathen China' if you are pleased to call us so, to instruct us to turn our plowshares into swords and our prunling hooks into spears."

Selfishness, jingoism, yellow journalism and politicians are chiefly responsible for misunderstandings that have existed between the United States and bandon its concept that justice is the ble for misunderstandings that have existed between the United States and Japan, said Mr. Kiyo Sue Inul, a lecturer of the Japan Society of America.

Farmer Brown's Boy Becomes Thoughtful.

For everything that happens

"America is therefore the field in which the seeds of the world religion are given opportunity to germinate, and which will extend to the peoples of all climes the bounties of the religion of humanity. May we not, therefore, look upon America as the nation which is specially chosen by the Almighty to assist in man's progress upharmanity with the fruits of universal peace?"

World Peace Called "Fantasy."

Count Okuma, Japanese premier, sent a message to the congress that world peace was yet a fantasy and will be until the militaristic order of things is changed. Count Okuma declared there was no hope for peace "as long as there exist nations or individuals who believe or exalt themselves as absolutely superior to others and, to assert that they dreat the product yet with the first provided in the property of the search of the sate of the provided in the provided up things so small that he couldn't see what they were. produced here, at the higher scale of prices, two seasons ago.

There is added interest in "At Bay," owing to the fact that its scenes are laid in Washington. The principals in the story are a young girl, who has been made the victim of a mock marriage, and one of the United States secret service men, who is accused of murder. How the secret service man frees himself from suspicion, and at the same time saves the girl, constitutes the chief dramatic interest of the unusual story.

T. Ellis Allison has resigned his post ion as librarian of the Bar Association f the District of Columbia, which he has held for the past two years, to enter upon his duties as secretary to the chief justice of the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia. Mr. Allison is a graduate of the Washington Busiess High School, and is now president of the Alumni Association of the school. He is at present engaged in the study of the law at one of the law schools here. Mr. Allison's successor as librarian of the Bar Association is his brother, W. C. Allison, formerly of the Library of Congress.

The legitimate attractions of unusual magnitude and merit are commanding attention in Washington this week. Otis Skinner has in "Cock o' the Walk" a drama in which he finds opportunity for one of those fine character studies in which he so pre-eminently excels. His acting is, as always, delightful, and the production as a whole is a work of well applied craftsmanship.

"Androcles and the Lion" and "The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife," besides exemplifying the wit of G. Bernard Shaw and the resources of Granville Barker, brings to attention a large group of players as interesting as they are unfamiliar. A decided personal hit has been scored by Mary Forbes, an actress of extraordinary charm and talents, who takes the leading feminine role in both plays.

"The Bubble."

The story of the play deals with the double standard of morality, with the scenes laid in New York city and Brooklyn. It is the story of a woman who, after eight years of married life, in which she has been devoted to an ungrateful husband, suddenly resolves to rebel and pay him back in his own coin. The part of the devoted wife is exceptionally strong, and will give Mme. Petrova an excellent opportunity to display her dramatic art. She will be supported by a cast of well known actors.

The harbor police tug Vigilant, which recently completed a general overhauling of her machinery and of having had other work done, has had her trial trip on the river, and the harbor officials are well pleased with both her speed and her quickness in handling. The Vigilant was built about ten years ago, and since that time has had but little work done on her house or hull. These have now been put in thorough order, her engine is tuned for efficient service, and she is ready to take up patrol work when wanted. Taylor Granville, supported by Laura Plerpront and company, will appear in "The Yellow Streak," described as a play with a "punch." Other additions will be Ryan and Tierney in a fresh assortment of comic songs; Whitfield, Ireland and Company in "The Belle of Bingville"; Harry and Emma Sharrock in a blended fun and mystery seance; Lambert and Fredericks in a song and dance serehade: Albert G. Since the two famous characters of Abe and Mawruss took New York by storm two years ago they have practically become incorporated into cotemporary history. Their wit and their wisdom, their joys and their sorrows, their quarrels and their peacemakings are so thoroughly human that only the hardened beyond redemption do not respond to their emotions.

The story of "Potash and Perlmutter" deals with the fortunes of Abe and Mawruss, who risk their all in order to save from a Russian prison a young man who has fied that country to avoid persecution. The play teems with laughs, but there are also many sweet love passages and touches of pathos that give to the comedy its lasting hold.
